

Teaching & Learning Coordinator (TLC)

Marah Ryks

Hello.

I've met many NRHEG staff members in both large and small groups, and I'm working to make more connections each day. The opportunity to join you as a panther is an incredible honor to me.

I can't wait to learn about your strengths and interests. Here are a few of mine:

- I live on a farm with beef cattle.
- My fiance's name is Dan. We share (4) children-Buck (18), Siri(14), Jacob (12), and Ella (10).
- We are a busy family with sports, farming, and LIFE!
- I'm a USC graduate.
- My undergrad was completed online through Bemidji State University.
- I obtained my Master's Degree (Teaching and Learning) from Saint Mary's University.
- I'm an advocate for students both small and tall.
- I will always make time for you. Doing things for others is what makes my heart the happiest.

My Role:

I'm the district Teaching and Learning Coordinator. This differs slightly from the Curriculum & Instruction Coordinator position in the past. While I will have a large role in selection and implementation of curriculum, much of my time will be spent supporting staff to remove barriers to student success and providing resources/learning opportunities to ensure our staff are the best we can be for our students.

My Strengths:

- Adaptability
- Command
- Deliberative
- Self-Assurance
- Analytical

These things occupy my mind:

- Family & Farming
- Equity
- School Culture & Climate
- Community
- Continuous Improvement

Stop By!

When you get a chance, stop by my office! I'm working hard to get to know each staff member, and have been exploring classrooms each day. Even if you just want to borrow some office candy or look around, I'd still enjoy seeing your face.
